

NEMO

FABRICATION

NEMO Fabrication Success Story

NEMO Fabrication is a full-service design and fabrication shop specializing in custom ASME tank design and fabrication as well as power and process pipe fitting. New England Mechanical Overlay (NEMO Fabrication's parent company) specializes in industrial boiler repair, corrosion resistant overlay, power plant maintenance, pipe-fitting, shop fabrication and other field specific services.

The NEMO Fab Shop is a 6,000+ square foot shop in Pittsfield, New Hampshire that specializes in ASME tank design and fabrication, as well as power and process piping. In addition to tank and tank related fabrication, the NEMO Fab Shop is capable of fabricating a wide variety of other industrial plant projects, including structural and mechanical. The NEMO Fabrication design team can work with you to create fabrication drawings of your tank that meet compliance and certification requirements with supporting calculations and material specs. ND examinations are performed by our sister company, Harvard NDE. Finally, NEMO Fabrication's New England road crew will deliver and/or install your finished fabrication.

The NEMO Fab Shop is also the headquarters to New England Mechanical Overlay specializing in industrial boiler repair, corrosion resistant overlay, power plant maintenance, pipe fitting, shop fabrication and other field specific services. The NEMO Executive staff and key employees who work at the Pittsfield headquarters account for 10 of the over 100 employees that work for New England Mechanical Overlay and NEMO Fabrication.

New England Mechanical Overlay was founded in 2005 by Jamie Byrd. In 2008 Bryan Foulds joined NEMO as a partner and CEO. In 2010 NEMO built its current headquarters and 6,000 square foot NEMO Fabrication shop in Pittsfield, New Hampshire. In 2018 NEMO acquired Connecticut-based Harvard NDE. NEMO takes pride in training and certifying its managers and welders to be the best in the business. NEMO is a 'pioneer in safety' with an unmatched safety record in the industry.

NEMO offers a turnkey solution for their clients and manage the entire job from concept to crew, rigging to refractory, and more. NEMO's offers unparalleled experience, knowledge, and manpower through the synergy of their three companies. In 2019 NEMO partnered with industry leader Zampell to offer staging & refractory, insulation, and scaffolding.